

A B S T R A C T

The vibrating sensor comprises a cell fixed in a housing, the cell comprising a support member and a 5 vibrating member connected to the support member, together with a thermal masking element extending between the vibrating member and a wall of the housing.